Awareness about the Role of Digital Payments

Date of activity: 21/08/2023

Number of participants: 24 students

Venue: LPCPS nearby street vendors

Brief about the activity:

Digital payments refer to the use of technology to make financial transactions. Over the last few years, digital payments have transformed the way people conduct business, manage finances, and access services. With the widespread adoption of mobile phones, internet connectivity, and various payment platforms, digital payment systems have become a significant part of daily life. Government initiatives like "Digital India" have played a key role in promoting digital payments, especially through educational campaigns and incentives for businesses. Despite these efforts, there is still a need for greater awareness, improved cyber security, and infrastructure development, particularly in rural and underserved areas. As digital payment systems continue to evolve, it is essential to increase awareness and ensure accessibility for all.

Keeping above theme in mind NSS unit of LPCPS, involved in a street campaign promoting digital payment adoption where students encourage shopkeepers to adopt digital payment methods. Because college students play a significant role in spreading awareness about digital payments, as they are among the most tech-savvy groups in society. Through their frequent use of smartphones and social media platforms, students are driving the adoption of digital payment systems, such as mobile wallets, UPI, and online banking, within their communities.

However, despite their active role, challenges remain, such as lack of awareness in rural areas, security concerns, and limited internet connectivity.
