Street Plays for Suicide Prevention

On 30th November 2024, Lucknow Public College of Professional Studies (LPCPS) organized impactful street plays to raise awareness about suicide prevention among youth. As part of its extension activities, the initiative aimed to educate the public on mental health challenges, warning signs, and the importance of seeking timely help. The performances, documented through photos and videos, encouraged open dialogue and helped destigmatize mental health issues. The emotional and powerful presentations received positive feedback from the audience, media, and mental health organizations. Students gained valuable experience in using performing arts for social change, reinforcing the need for continued awareness initiatives.

“Wings of Freedom” Content Writing Event

On 8th February 2025, Lucknow Public College of Professional Studies (LPCPS) organized an inspiring Content Writing Event based on the theme “Aazadi Ke Pankh” (Wings of Freedom). The event aimed to provide students with a creative platform to express their ideas on freedom, strengthen their writing skills, and encourage deeper reflection on the meaning and significance of Aazadi.

Students from various departments participated enthusiastically, submitting poems, essays, articles, and short stories that explored freedom through diverse and imaginative perspectives. A panel of faculty members and literary experts evaluated the entries. During the concluding session, winners were announced, awarded, and invited to share their work, offering valuable insights into their interpretations of “Aazadi Ke Pankh.”

The event successfully fostered creativity, critical thinking, and self-expression among participants. It also strengthened students’ emotional and intellectual connection to the concept of freedom. LPCPS continues to remain committed
